This form is based on the document “Procedures and Policies for University of Hawai’i Writing-Intensive Programs to Provide for Inter-Campus Articulation of Writing-Intensive Course Designations, April 1988.”

According to the 1988 Inter-Campus Articulation agreement, each campus will annually submit to the System-wide Standing Committee on Written Communication a description of how its Writing-Intensive (WI) program addresses the concerns listed below. Campus WI Program Directors may provide supporting or qualifying details in the blank spaces provided or may append additional materials as needed.

Upon receipt of each description, the Committee will review, advise, and recommend action on inter-campus articulation of the campus’s WI courses.

Campus: Honolulu Community College

Writing-Intensive Program Director: Eric Shaffer, Assistant Professor, Language Arts

Report submitted by (name and title): Marcia Roberts-Deutsch, Dean, University College (former WI Coordinator)

Date: April 17, 2013

I. PROGRAM SUPPORT

Personnel

1. Is the program directed by a person who has been appropriately appointed and given appropriate released time to supervise the program? (Note: For the last few years, the Committee has interpreted “appropriate released time” as “support that is appropriate for the program’s current size and state of development”–TH)

Dr. Eric Shaffer, who had previously served on the WI committee, was appointed as WI Coordinator for Honolulu Community College when Marcia Roberts-Deutsch, former Coordinator and Division Chair for Humanities and Social Sciences, was appointed Dean of University College at HCC. The WI Coordinator continues to serve without compensation, though support would be merited given the nature and scope of the program.

2. Who assists the director in supervising the program? (e.g., Faculty Board, student assistant)

Assistance for the WI Coordinator is provided by other WI faculty as needed, either for review of new courses or those requiring certification, or for various forms of assessment.

3. Do the director and board members have adequate professional/secretarial/clerical assistance to support their work and maintain records necessary for articulation of WI courses?

As noted, the College does not provide regular personnel support for WI. However, assistance can be obtained from the Secretary for University College (the Liberal Arts program of HCC, which provides almost all of the WI courses on campus) if needed.

4. Does a network of support exist for instructors of WI courses?

Yes. This support comes primarily from faculty colleagues.
Overall Teaching Load and Class Size

5. Are classes designated as WI limited to 20 students so that effective interaction between instructor and student can occur?

Yes.

6. Are teaching loads of instructors such that courses can be planned for and carried out in a way that is true to the spirit of the WI guidelines and that does not add unreasonably to the overall workload of the instructor?

Yes.

7. Is the teaching of WI courses appropriately rewarded in review processes, including tenure and promotion?

If the faculty member specifies that teaching WI courses is part of the way in which they fulfill their professional obligations, that information is positively considered in the review process.

Student Needs

8. Are enough WI courses offered so students can meet graduation or degree requirements?

Yes. The College has more than 60 WI offerings on record across multiple disciplines. Liberal Arts students are required to take a minimum of two courses to meet A.A. requirements, and are encouraged to take a third while they are at a community college.

9. Are WI courses clearly designated in class schedules?

Yes. They are so designated in the online schedule, and a list of WI and other Focus-area courses is also included in the Registration Guide prepared each semester.

10. Are students advised about the availability of and purpose for WI courses through regular campus publications?

Yes. This information is in the college catalogue and included in the registration guides each semester.

11. Can students who need help on writing problems get help, either from instructors or from staff in a writing workshop or laboratory?

Yes. While the prerequisite for any WI course at HCC is passing ENG 100 with a “C” or higher, students (particularly those for who English is not their first language) may need some additional help with basic writing skills. This is usually provided by the instructor of the course, but the College also provides additional support through the College Skills Center and the campus Writing Center.

12. Are WI designations recorded and explained on student transcripts?

The designation exists, but no detailed explanation on the transcript per se. That is not something the College has control over.
Budget

13. Have adequate funds been provided to support the program?

Yes, in terms of supporting faculty salaries. As noted, however, no additional personnel support is provided. Incidental expenses (e.g., duplication of writing samples for assessment) are generally absorbed into a division’s budget.

II. COURSE DESIGNATION PROCESS

1. Is the WI designation process reasonable, explained to faculty, and followed regularly by program administrators?

Yes. Information about the program, and the procedures for certifying or re-certifying courses, is available to all faculty on the campus intranet site. Peer mentoring is also provided. All WI faculty meet as a group at least once a year. WI certification is managed by the WI Coordinator, and monitored by the General Education Board, which coordinates all actions pertaining to Foundations, Diversification, other Focus-area courses (e.g., HAP) as well as General Education for CTE programs.

2. Does the designation process include the following:
   a) Publicizing the hallmarks of writing-intensive courses

Yes; see above.

   b) Soliciting proposals from individual faculty members

Yes. Specific deadlines for submission of applications for new courses are set each semester, and the WI Coordinator maintains a schedule of when all courses must submit applications for recertification.

   c) Reviewing proposals

Yes. Each application is reviewed by the WI Coordinator and at least two other WI faculty members outside the discipline or area from which the proposal comes.

   d) Approving the designation of courses as writing-intensive

Yes. Courses are reviewed in relation to specific WI hallmarks, and may be returned to the proposer if there is any concern about meeting those hallmarks or other aspects of the proposal. Initial certification for a new course is for a period of three years, contingent on completion of specific WI evaluations by students each time the course is taught, and periodic submission of writing samples for embedded assessment.

   e) Notifying appropriate personnel of such designations

Yes. Faculty members are notified of concerns (see d. above) as well as of their successful completion of the application process. That information is also conveyed to those preparing the schedule and registration guides.

3. Does the program offer an option for WI designations that extend beyond a single semester? If yes, please add a brief description of the option. [added Spring 1998]

Yes; see (d) above)
III. EVALUATION PROCEDURES

1. Is there a program of evaluation that assesses WI courses to see if they are doing what they are supposed to do—help students improve their writing?

WI courses are assessed in at least two ways: by student evaluations, which must be completed in addition to other possible evaluations (e.g., general course evaluations, or DE evaluations); and through periodic assessment (usually every two years) of student writing samples, which are evaluated based on a common rubric by WI faculty.

2. Do program supervisors monitor the progress of students as they move through WI courses?

This is not done systematically. However, the periodic assessment of writing samples does give a general overview in the aggregate of how students are doing as sophomores.

IV. FACULTY TRAINING PROGRAM

1. Are training programs in WI course instruction required or provided for faculty who want to participate in them?

The College does not have a formal training program. There is, however, a strong culture of peer support and mentoring, and the WI Coordinator and those who review applications also provide substantial feedback.

2. Are orientation sessions provided at the beginning of each semester for instructors new to WI course instruction?

See above.

3. Are resources provided for instructors who want or need help in planning and teaching WI courses?

Yes. As noted above, this is done primarily through a strong faculty network and peer support.

If you have additional information for the committee, please submit it with this form.
